Ti Films – Now in the USA

Taghleef Industries LLC, one of the leading global producers of BOPP films, has just announced the opening of its new USA offices in Charleston, SC. The Dubai-based polypropylene film manufacturer has further emphasized its long term commitment to the global BOPP industry and along with the new USA entity there will also be warehousing facilities courtesy of a partnership with Dockside Logistics, a well-established warehousing company based just a few miles from the state-of-the-art Wando Terminal in Charleston.

Colin Jones, Ti's USA Market Development Manager, has over 25 years experience in the BOPP industry in Europe and other regions. He commented "Ti Films is the fastest growing BOPP producer in the world. We wanted to prove to the USA Flexible Packaging Industry that we are determined to establish a real presence in the USA and with these new facilities coming on stream as we speak we look to develop strategic partnerships with many leading BOPP film converters and users. Our raw material resources for the future are well documented and with that support we ensure that Ti is ready for the challenges ahead."

"Furthermore Charleston is proud to claim the title of 'most efficient port' in the USA and with several major shipping lines increasing traffic between the Gulf and the East Coast of the USA, in particular Charleston, this allows us the benefit of fast transit times. Combined with inventory programs I would like to think the US converters and end users can consider us as a domestic supplier".
